The company that I had built with him, for he was then named Dean's painters and decorators. We both managed to obtain a big job for him regenerating a person's house externally, this included painting, maintaining and painting the whole front of the house and garages. While dean was at work, I continued to help him out I had ordered some business cards for him from Vistaprint. After he had finished the job that he had in hand, we posted the business cards down the street that he had been working on to gain some more needed work, as he and me including the client was proud of the hard work that had gotten accomplished. We decided the best way for him to gain more clients was to keep advertising the companies that got started, so we split the business card that I had ordered for him in half and in turn I left them on my van's dashboard. I can always remember playing a game when I was driving around London and what I did in this game was taking my time to write down any company vans details that I could see driving past, this got done when I believed they would help me with my dreams. In playing this game, I used to stop at shops and talk to the owners about different business opportunities. I can remember stopping at my local churches in my living surrounding areas and taking their details, I always tried my best to open new doors, as one might say.
