explain, in their police statements, as they do.

Even more to this, was the reason that the police officers gave me the conditions of search and their consent form due to being searched by them self's.

In an addition, there had been nothing done wrong on my part once everything had got clarified to be true by me.

When the official police officers, started to check me and my car, I had never done anything wrong, so nothing ever got found.

I emphasize, that as an effect, to what had just taken place, the police watched me leave straight after, completing their procedures, so as an effect to these on going's; after talking to the police, we all dispersed and the police see me head back towards my home.
