

Return Premiums & Cancellation Charges

Return premiums usually arise if an insurance risk is reduced or a policy cancelled.

In the event of cancellation by consumers insurers may return a pro-rata premium to us based on the time on risk.

In the event of cancellation by commercial customers insurers may return a premium as follows:

Broadsure Direct Cancellation Charges

Period Of Cover on/up to	One Month	Two Months	Three Months	Four Months	Five Months	Six Months	Seven Months	Eight Months
% of Annual Premium Payable	30%	40%	50%	60%	70%	80%	90%	100%

On a return premium, we will repay commission on the amount to your insurer and this will be deducted from the final amount due to you. If a policy is cancelled we will refund any return premium due after deduction of our commission and our fee and/or charges as follows:

Where a consumer cancels the policy after the 14 day cancellation period for general insurance contracts or 30 days for pure protection and payment protection contracts we will refund any return premium after deduction of the commission and our fees and/or charges pro-rata to the period for which the contract is in effect.

Where a commercial customer cancels the policy we will refund any return premium after deduction of the commission and our fees and/or charges from return premium pro-rata to the above.

There will be no refund of premium where a fault claim has occurred

Minimum Deposit Contracts:

Minimum deposit contracts can be cancelled, however, cancellation will not generate a premium refund and full payment of the premium must be made, whether payment is made by a single payment or by instalments, including by direct debit. Minimum deposit contracts include Goods In Transit insurance and some types of Liability insurance such as Public Liability and Employers Liability insurance. A list of policies which are minimum deposit contracts is available on request.
